Look at that home-baked bread! Mrs. John Dorsey is removing some of the home-baked bread from the big parish hall oven at St. Mary's Parish in Umbarger. Mrs. Vince Ramaekers is ready to help with the next loaf.

Sausage Festival Is Slated At Umbarger

The Umbarger German Sausage Festival Sunday will be the biggest and best eating event in the Panhandle.

There will be nearly a ton of good, old fashioned home-made sausage, home-baked breads by the dozen loaves, gallons and gallons of the best home-made sauerkraut around cranberries, green beans, mashed potatoes with gravy made from the sausage drippings, salads, home-made pies, coffee and milk for the kiddoes.

Every man, woman and nearly all the children in the little Panhandle town of Umbarger have been preparing for weeks for the festival. The men have been getting the ingredients for the sausage ready, while the women have been baking breads and pies, preparing the raw foods for cooking and doing needle work and making home-crafts for sale at the festival. All proceeds go to St. Mary's Parish in Umbarger.

Officials of the festival said the attendance is increasing every year as the shindig becomes better known. Siegfried Bolte, who is head of the festival, said attendance has been increasing by two or three hundred people every year. "We used to use about 6 hogs for the sausage when the festival first opened," he said. "Now we are using 15 hogs and about six or seven hundred pounds of beef for the sauage." This year, nearly a ton of the good sauage will be prepared.

Leonard Batenhorst, who has been on the sausage committee every year of the festival, gave a rundown of how they prepare it.

"We usually have the hogs butchered several days before the festival by a local slaughter house," he said. The hogs are all home grown and are donated to the festival by parish families."

Batenhorst went on to say that the sausage committee, gathers the Thursday before the festival to start the actual making of sausage. Starting at eight o'clock Thursday morning, he said, the 22 men and women of the committee start by cutting the pork and beef into small cubes for grinding, deboning it while they work.

Batenhorst said the proportions of pork to beef are a community secret passed down from father to son. The committee each year teaches a few of the younger members of the community the secrets of sausage making so that it will be carried over from generation to generation.

He went on to say that the beef and pork are ground seperately and then mixed while certain spices are added. He wouldn't say what spices, adding that the spices were part of the secret.

The final step in making the sausage is to stuff the mixture in prepared skins and hang them in chains in a cooler until the day of the festival. The cooler is kept at forty degrees.

Batenhorst adds that the sausage makers have to talk to the sausage in German while they are making it to give it the good old country flavor.

Sausage committee members are Ben Koch who is chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Grotegut, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Batenhorst, Mr. and Mrs. E.N. Reinart, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Westhoff, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Batenhorst, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Fortin, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Batenhorst, Mrs. Ben Koch, Mrs. Vincent Friemel, Mrs. Alice Koch, Mrs. Carl Hartman Jr., Mrs. Siegfried Bolte, Mr. Tony Handing and Mr. Leo Artho.

Preparations for the actual cooking for the festival start early Sunday morning. The cooking committee starts by cutting and frying sausage in advance. It is quick fried in hot grease and then kept warm in steam ovens where it gets its full flavor and moist taste.

While the sausage is cooking, the potatoes are peeled and

Heritage Group Ponders Hiring General Manager

ROBERT McFARLAND

The Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation announced Wednesday that they are considering the appointment of Robert McFarland, 26, from Portland Oregon, as the general manager for the foundation.

McFarland, who has extensive experience in the theater field, will be coming to Canyon this week end from Oregon. He will work with the foundation for a month in an advisory capacity, while the Palo Duro Amphitheater is under construction.

McFarland is coming to Canyon from a position as director of the "Le Petite Theater" at the Seattle World's Fair.

Phil Tippin, manager of all the performing arts at the fair, said the "Le Petite Theater" was one of the most successful. Tippin said this success was largely due to McFarland's ability to work with people, organize and to follow through.

In addition to his summer work at the fair, McFarland has wide experience in the performing and directing arts in summer stock productions. He was the assistant stage manager at "Unto These Hills", the symphonic drama about Cherokee Indians. "Unto These Hills", was written by Kermit Hunter, a student of Paul Green, who is writting the play for the Palo Duro Amphitheater production of the Panhandle Heritage Foundation.

McFarland grew up in Portland Oregon where he attended high school. He has a Bachelor of Arts degree from Stamford University and has nearly completed his Master of Arts degree at Yale Graduate School of Drama. His majors were speech and drama, theater design, scenery, lighting and production. He minored in journalism and advertising.

Mrs. Ples Harper, president of the Panhandle Heritage Foundation, said of McFarland, "We have invited him to come and work with us a month. In this way he will be here to help us right now when the theater is under construction and when we need to decide how fast we can move. During that month we shall explore to see whether we can manage a permanent arrangement."

"We feel delighted and relieved to have a person with Mr. McFarland's experience working with us," she said. McFarland is due into Canyon Friday night.

GOP Commissioner For Randall

Demos Sweep State

Democrats swept Randall County the Panhandle and the state in balloting Tuesday.

In spite of this, history was made in Randall County as for the first time a Republican was named to commissioners court. Bill Butler unseated veteran C.Y. Johnson to represent Precinct 4 on the county's governing board.

Randall County voters went heavily Republican in the gubernatorial election but edged away from Amarillo's Mayor Jack Seale to approve the return of Incumbent Walter Rogers to Congress.

Rogers won handily over Seale across the district. Here in Randall County the vote was 4723 for Rogers to 3877 for Seale.

Canyon voters were outspoken about their feelings on Seale's membership in the John Birch Society as the campaign drew to a close. Rogers bore down on the issue as the two candidates locked horns in one of the bitterest campaigns ever waged in this area.

A complete box by box tabulation of Randall County voting may be found on pages 6 and 7.

Seven incumbent Randall County court house office holders were returned to offices in contested races.

Wayland Angel, incumbent Democrat, handily defeated John Halley, Republican from Amarillo, by a vote of 4944 to 3536. Halley had appealed to the South Amarillo voters.

Tommy Lair, incumbent, defeated Bryan Denson by a vote of 4795 to 3475. Lair lived in Canyon while Denson is a resident of South Amarillo.

Ruth Hill, incumbent, defeated Laverne Daniel 4810 to 3553 for the office of county treasurer. Both women live in Canyon.

John Dorsey defeated Bill Schiavoni 4737 to 3353 in the race for county surveyor. Dorsey lives at Canyon and Schiavoni in South Amarillo.

Charence Beckman of Umbarger overwhelmed his Republican opponent, Jimmy Christopher of Canyon. Beckman polled 454 votes while Christopher received 126.

Butler received 2091 votes

J. M. Davis Is Claimed By Death

John Madison Davis, 83, died November 5 at Thurmon's Rest Home in Amarillo.

Mr. Davis was born July 22, 1879, in Bonham, Texas, and moved to Canyon in 1909. He married Martha Dixon Lair in 1910. He was a farmer, and was a member of the First Baptist Church in Canyon.

Funeral services were conducted in the Canyon First Baptist Church Wednesday at 3 p.m. with Dr. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the church officiating. Burial was in Dreamland Cemetery under direction of LaGrone Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Newton Crain, Tommy Lair, Avent Lair, Standley Lair, James Lair, and T.W. Austin.

Survivors include his wife, Martha Dixon Davis, of Canyon; a daughter, Mrs. Lillian Terrell, of Canyon; a son, James M. Davis, of Galveston; three brothers, Calvin of Tulsa, Oklahoma, Zee of Olney, Texas, Lonnie of Fort Worth; three sisters, Miss Emma Davis and Mrs. Lulu Gilmore of Fort Worth, Mrs. Ruth Reeves of Midland; and two grandchildren.

Crackdown On Hunters

Randall County officials this week issued a stern warning to night hunters.

Five persons have been convicted of illegal night hunting during the past few days, according to Justice of the Peace Bill Wilson.

Wilson said two hunters were intoxicated and had children with them at the time they were apprehended. Two were hunting with high-powered rifles equipped with telescope sights.

Weldon Fromm, district supervisor for the state game department, advised that it is illegal to hunt at night where deer are known to roam.

Hunters must have valid hunting license even to hunt rabbits outside the county of their residence. It is illegal to shoot from or across county roads.

Hunters may hunt on private property with permission.

Farmers have been complaining about injured livestock, punctured water tanks and livestock being killed.

Reception For Band Set Friday

A reception for band members and their parents will be held Friday night immediately following the Canyon-Floydada football game.

New draperies have been purchased for the band room and will be hung Friday. Parents of the members and also any other interested persons are invited to come by the band hall after the game to see the drapes, and have coffee and cookies.

City Firemen Receive Emergency Equipment

Joe Rice, captain of the Canyon Fire Department, said Wednesday, that the newly ordered resuscitator for the departments' Emergency Unit has arrived and is now ready for service.

The resuscitator is an automatic device designed to aid the breathing of an accident or emergency victim who is still able to breath or to force the breathing of a victim who has lost consciousness.

Rice said it can be used for heart attack victims, asphyxiation cases, drownings, victims of electrical shock and for those who have gone into severe shock from accidents, etc., and who have stopped breathing.

Rice added that the unit has an attachment that will drain fluids from the air passages of an emergency victim if necessary. This will be especially valuable in drownings and in cases of severe internal bleeding.

The resuscitator will be carried in the new station wagon of the Emergency Unit. The wagon is due for delivery next week, Rice said.

Proposals for the resuscitator started last August when members of the volunteer fire department foresaw the need for a portable device capable of restoring the breathing of emergency victims.

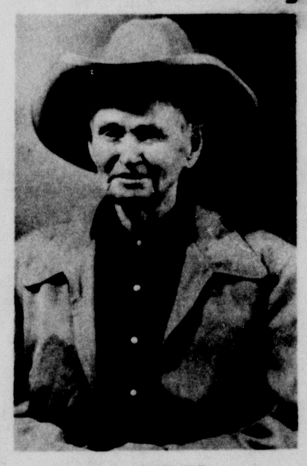

The firemen reported to the civic clubs that the only resuscitator in the county was the one at Neblett Hospital and that one could not be used at accidents or in the field as it was not portable. They proposed to the civic clubs that they contribute towards buying the unit for the fire department.

Rice said that as of this week, the clubs have contributed a total of $700 to the project. He said that the unit costs $500 but the additional donations will be used for the Emergency Unit to purchase auxilary equipment such as a big first aid kit, blankets and additional oxygen.

Rice named the civic clubs that have donated toward the project. They are the Canyon Lion's Club, Canyon Rotary Club, Randall County Home Demonstration Council, Canyon Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Canyon Kiwanis Club.

Rice said that he wanted to emphasize that the Emergency Unit and its lifesaving equipment is on 24 hour call, 7 days a week for anyone in Randall County who needs its services. He said he hoped the community would become aware of the unit and its availability. "Call the Canyon Fire Department at 2158 if you need the Unit," he said.

Buffs Travel To Denton

After an inspired 23-7 win over previously-unbeaten Bowling Green State, West Texas State takes on another big, tough football team Saturday night at North Texas State. Kickoff time is 7:30 p.m., and it will be the annual student-band trip for West Texas.

Coach Joe Kerbel called Saturday's upset win over Bowling Green before a day-time crowd of 19,000 one of the greatest wins in West Texas football history. The Buffs were outweighed 25 pounds per man in the line, and for the visitors it was only their eighth loss in the past eight years.

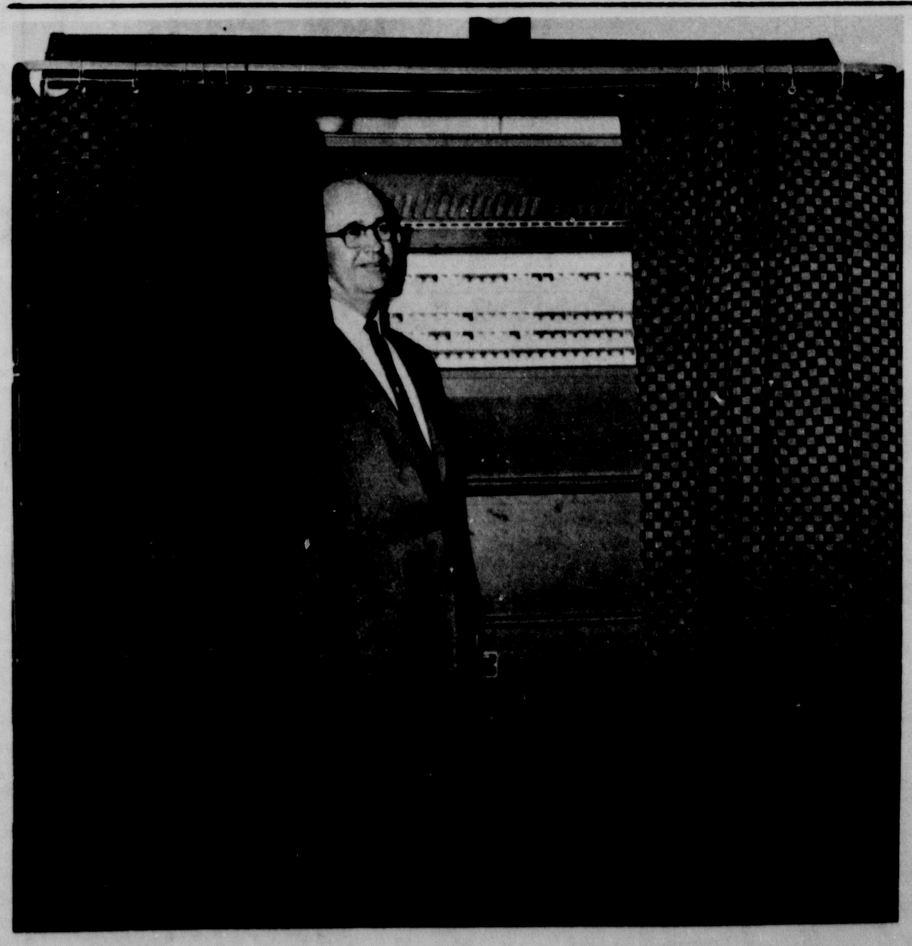

The Buffaloes now boast a 7-1 record, one of the best in the Southwest, and will tackle an unpredictable North Texas squad. The Eagles have won four and lost three, winning every other start this year. They have been especially tough at home, beating Cincinnati, Texas Western and Hardin-Simmons. They dropped a rugged 14-7 decision to strong Memphis State, and Last week upset Wichita at Wichita, 9-7.

The Eagles average 235 pounds per man on the front line, and their strong backs weigh in at 190. In the backfield are two of the top runners in the Missouri Valley Conference--halfback Bobby Smith and fullback Dwain Bean. Bean leads the league in rushing and Smith is the explosive runner who can kill you from anyplace on the field.

West Texas came out of the Bowling Green game in good physical condition, and should be in top shape for the contest. Pistol Pete Pedro, the team's leading rusher who has played only sparingly in the last four games, will be expected to be at top speed.

The two schools didn't meet last year, but in 1960, West Texas took a 14-6 decision in the mud at Buffalo Bowl. That was the Buffaloes' only win in the series as North Texas holds an 8-1 edge.

The near-capacity crowd of 19,000 Saturday boosted West Texas' total attendance of the season to 174,934, an average of nearly 22,000 per outing. Home attendance average for five games was 16,760, a new all-time record.

Virgil Henson, business manager of West Texas State College, is shown here just after he cast his ballot on one of Randall County's new voting machines. Proposal on the ballot to purchase voting machines for the county carried.

Routine County Meeting

Randall County Commissioner's Court, Monday, recorded in its minutes a letter from the Randall County Farm Bureau requesting that the court enforce any laws concerning the blowing of weeds or dirt in the county.

County Clerk, Tom Lair said the law is a carry-over from dustbowl days when the county had the power to take steps toward the control of wind erosion of farm lands in the county.

In other action, Commissioner Beckman made a motion to appoint D. M. Foster as election judge in precinct #17. The motion carried.

One—Act Plays Scheduled At Branding Iron

Four one-act plays will be staged Thursday and Friday at 8:15 p.m. in the Branding Iron Theatre at West Texas State College. The productions are open to the public at no charge.

An original play, "Revelations," will be presented by Henry Werner, Galveston pre-law senior. Werner, a past state champion in play writing will also direct the play.

The play takes place at the end of the world with the Battle of Armageddon. Three characters, all women, are found in a bomb shelter, and they represent the forces of religion, science and the masses. The characters fight for the right to be taken by Christ at the Judgement.

Three freshman drama students appear in the roles. They are Mary Lou Olson of Canyon, Lana Hard of Quanah, and Kay Brown of Muleshoe. Co-director is Nancy Massey of Borger, and technical director-

Borger, and technical directors are Katherine Ziegler of Amarillo and Lisle White of Hooker, Okla.

Harry Gilstrap of Amarillo, former winner of Best Director honors at WT, will direct George Bernard Shaw's "Passion, Poison and Petrifaction." In the cast will be LaNell Riley of Pampa, David Ayers of Amarillo, Gary Tydings of Hobbs, N.M., Don McPherson of Amarillo, Dwayne Smith of Pampa, and Al Campbell of Aurora, Colo.

"The Sandbox," a fantasy by Edward Albee, will be directed by Lydia Miller of Brownwood and Judy Haney of Andrews.

In the cast are Jane Funk of Guymon, Okla., Jeanne Huston of Perryton, Martin McDonald of Brownfield, Ronnie Gabriel of Pampa, and Gary Wertenberger of Hereford.

Final play on the bill will be "Where But in America," by Oscar Wilde. Wilson Evans of Friona will be director, and in the cast are Sarah Carr of Santa Fe, James Fuqua of Amarillo, and Judy Haney of Andrews.

FROM THE CANYON RIM

Well, the election is over and most of our candidates lost, as usual.

In retrospect, there is little doubt that membership in the John Birch Society defeated Jack Seale in his bid to unseat Walter Rogers as Congressman from the 18th District.

Many of those who found Rogers unpalatable went ahead and voted against the John Birch Society rather than for Rogers.

Seale's opposition to Rogers may have a good effect on the Congressman's tenure in office for the next two years. Even though he went in by a two to one margin, you must remember that he has been going in without any opposition at all.

Losing is nothing new to us. We eat humble pie for weeks after every election.

For President Kennedy this year's election was a victory almost as great as the one which placed him in the White House two years ago. He has a Congress which almost certainly will do his bidding.

We can expect sweeping measures in the coming two years which will vitally affect my life and yours. Medicare and other social welfare legislation almost certainly will find approval in the upcoming Congress.

That is what the people want. They evidenced that by their vote Tuesday. With a friendly Congress through which to tighten his political hold on the country, the likelihood of defeating Kennedy for President in 1964 is about as remote as the possibility of Hades becoming an ice skating rink. Unless a miracle comes to pass we can expect six more years of Kennedy administration at least.

We have searched diligently for the reasons for people wanting a welfare state and we believe a government professor of our acquaintence has the best answer we've run across.

He noted that with more recreation and good living readily available, the masses are seeking a way in which to provide food, clothing and shelter in a manner easy enough to allow them leisure time in which to enjoy themselves.

The masses have been led to see government as the easiest solution.

In the next few years we can expect further encroachment on what we have always felt were rights of individuals. We can expect measures designed to further divide the wealth.

Our government already is advocating land reform in South America. We can expect land reform here before the end of the decade. Land reform simply means that land will be taken from those who have more than a certain number of acres and given to those who have less or none.

We say these things without rancor. We believe that it is only a short time now before they come to pass. In fact, they already are in the mill.

In our opinion, the election just past will have more effect upon the future of this country than any ever held. We just hope that the American people were fully conscious of the course upon which it embarked them.

Recrimination -- we have none. After the election in 1960 we had serious doubts that the people were ready to follow the leadership of John F. Kennedy. Their vote Tuesday left little doubt that the majority is willing to follow him.

We who dissent can only wait and see if the people are satisfied with that leadership.

Our friend, Bob Wear, brought this to our attention. We must look into our own hearts as individuals for the qualities we would have in government, for this country--being of and for the people----is a government of individuals.

If we would have morality in government--be moral. If we would have honesty--be honest.

Platitudes? Perhaps, but true enough anyway.

Your Better Hearing

In the words of the famous bard, "Parting is such sweet sorrow." My family and I deeply regret leaving Canyon and the wonderful people here in this fine community. We anxiously look forward, however, to the new experiences and responsibilities in Knoxville.

It is impossible to adequately express our deep appreciation to all of our friends and associates here in the panhandle area. It is my earnest hope that the one who follows me in this work will find the same warm and congenial atmosphere which has made our work in Canyon so pleasant.

I would like to publicly thank some of the people who have been especially helpful to us. First, I wish to say a word of thanks to our publisher, Troy Martin. We are forturnate to have a man in his position who is interested in the community enough to give a great deal of his paper for public information and services. Troy, I deeply appreciate the opportunity to have this space for my column.

A note of appreciation is also due Dr. James Cornette for his outstanding leadership in the development of West Texas State College. I can readily see why the school has grown into a fine academic institution under his direction.

Dr. Crannell Tolliver has been most wonderful in his assistance and understanding as has the rest of the faculty and staff of the college.

Canyon is very fortunate to have so many outstanding leaders that room does not permit listing all of them, so suffice it to say that their work and interest in our behalf is deeply appreciated.

In my first column I mentioned that the goal of my writing would be to create better understanding of the function of hearing and the many factors involving good ear hygiene. I hope that in some small way, this goal has been realized.

The ear is a magnificent structure, one which should be given the same care as the eyes, heart and other vital organs of the body. The field of audiology is filled with many challenges and it is hoped that some of the young people of this area will respond to the challenges of audiology.

In conclusion, I wish to state that wherever we will be and whatever we will do, there will always be a special place in our hearts for all of you. God bless you all.

by Dr. J. A. Hill

Hilltop Views

Now that the election is over (or will be before this gets into print) I wish to make a few parting observations and then do my hunting in other forests for awhile.

It seems to me the American people face a serious political problem that I have not heard publicly mentioned--the problem of cost in running for office. A prominent candidate called this to my attention some two weeks ago. He said that one cannot run for a state-wide office in Texas for less than $250,000. Few people can afford such costs. That means that only rich people can run for state office, or poor men must accept gifts from one or more who expect favors.

Yet it will be tragedy if this nation shall ever become a plutocracy. One of the proudest traditions in our history has been the fact that the tousle-headed lad at the fork of the creek may some day become president of the United States; and some of them have. A man who has to fight his way up through poverty, self-denial, and hard work, sometimes develops qualities that are essential in both private and public life.

Of course, much of the cost of running for office derives from conditions we would not abolish, such as expensive transpor-

Smith Baby's Rites Held

Graveside rites for infant Dianna Smith were conducted November 1 at 10 a.m. at Dreamland Cemetery, with Rev. Dale Cain, a Baptist minister of Canyon, officiating.

LaGrone Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

The infant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Smith of Amarillo, died October 31 at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.

Relatives other than the parents are a brother, Robin, of the home; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O.A. Smith of Canyon, Mr. and Mrs. Babe Walberg of Happy; and great-grandparents, Mrs. Minnie Walberg and Mrs. Ethel Forbus, both of Happy.

Around The Town

It was a busy weekend for the Buddy Price family. On Friday night they went to Groom where Norma Jo's brother, Dwain Currie is the football coach, and saw the last home game of Groom's season. On Saturday, the Currie's returned the visit and saw the last W.T. game of the season. On Sunday, Fawneil Price celebrated her eleventh birthday with a "dress-up" party to which the guests came dressed like Mama and enjoyed punch from a punch-bowl and cakes with their names frosted on it. Just when Norma Jo found time for all of this preparation escapes this writer.

The J.D. Barkers have just returned from a busy week. They visited daughter Marcia Nan and her husband Brian Tolliver in Houston first, then on to Denison to visit daughter Ann Singleton, her husband and children. Jess returned to Canyon and Adaline stayed a few extra days with the Singleton family.

Ann Batson took advantage of Joe's weekend fishing trip to go to Panhandle to visit her parents, but both are back in Canyon now, Ann is rested and Joe has no fish.

Cupie and Sleepy Harris had Cupie's nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Ray Knight of Jal New Mexico, as weekend guests, and spectators at the last Buff home game of the season.

Mrs. L.W. Gilley of Denver, Colorado is in Canyon visiting her sisters, Mrs. W.H. McAtee and Mrs. L.E. Thomas.

The H.C. Gentrys were in Canyon this weekend to vote, after spending a month's vacation in Missouri where they visited their daughter and her family near Labanon, in the Lake of the Ozarks area. They contend the scenery there is as beautiful as any they have ever seen. After voting Tuesday morning they took off for their winter quarter in Truth of Consequences, New Mexico.

Mrs. D.K. McGehee is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Taylor, Gary Kent and new baby Lindsey Ronald who was born on October 25. The Taylors live at 3534 La Prada, Mesquite, Texas.

Mrs. Arvin Triplett's mother, Mrs. Roy Wreath of Woodward, Oklahoma, has been spending a week with the Triplett family.

Mrs. Tom Service of Odessa came to Canyon on Tuesday to pick up her mother-in-law, Mrs. Ross Service, and take her home with her to Odessa to visit for a few weeks.

Carlos de la Camara and his sister, Myrna Gloria, may well earn "oles!" as well as "bravos!" when they dance together here Saturday night in the high school auditorium.

has been called "one of the important male dancers of our day."

He and his sister, Myrna Gloria, survived stiff parental opposition to a dancing career. They began dancing together professionally in 1951, at ages 9 and 10. In 1954 they appeared before President Dwight Eisenhower.

The pair descend from Spanish nobility, with doctors and engineers dominating the family. It was considered logical, by their family, that they follow in the path of medicine.

Carlos and Myrna, who had already studied under great dancing masters in Spain, Mexico City, Puerto Rico and New York City, didn't study medicine. However, they took liberal arts and commercial courses with the concert stage as their ultimate and sole goal.

Their present company, including two girl dancers and a pianist, is a youthful group. The other featured artist, singer and guitarist, Manuel Molina, 23, is the "old man" of the group.

Ballet Espanol has been showered with critical praise and the applause of audiences from Jacob's Pillow, Mass., to the University Theater in Puerto Rico, from the Waldorf-Astoria to the theatres of Madrid and Mexico City, and on many television shows, including the Ed Sullivan show.

Incidentally, the proud parents no longer frown on their dancing careers.

This will be the first dancing team to perform on the still-new high school stage. The concert association is aspiring along with other Canyon organizations, to provide a grand piano for permanent placement in the high school auditorium.

tation, telephone, radio and TV time, newspaper advertising, and other agencies of this technological age. These are all expensive, but they are indispensable for the private citizen as well as for the office seeker. We can now get all the information about candidates and issues that we need without ever coming face to face with the candidates themselves.

To use a personal illustration, I have attended only two political gatherings this year--one in the interest of a Republican candidate for his party's nomination for Governor (last spring) and a regional Democratic rally at Borger this fall. In the Republican meeting in Canyon I introduced Roy Whittenburg.

I have been "chided" for not going to hear Jack Seale. I didn't need to. I read the Canyon News, and if it has left out anything good about Mr. Seale I think Editor Martin would have called it to my attention in at least one of our several face to face discussions of the Rogers-Seale race.

Then there is the Amarillo News which I read every day and which has not seemed to me to be neglectful of Mr. Seale's interest. And if the papers failed to reach me then there were radio and TV dinning Seale into my ears without let or hinderance. One would be dumb indeed if the Seale "message" hadn't made him Seale conscious. In fact, the quality of the Seale campaign plus the quality of the Rogers record sealed me against Mr. Seale.

However, if he should be elected he will be my Congressman, too, and I shall support him as fully as I can. Such is a part of my philosophy of a free grovernment.

This is one of the reasons I support Mr. Kennedy when his extremist critics throw a fit. I know full well that public administrators have information that is not available to me and that if I had his knowledge of the facts I might heartily endorse his action. Furthermore, I know full well that a public administrator cannot lay all the facts before the public in every situation and be any account as an administrator. The public would tear him to pieces before he could find a solution to his problems.

These are reasons why I don't go along too far with recent newspaper cirticisms of President Kennedy for not showing his hand in some phases of the Cuban situation. He may be at fault, but the issue is a two way street. The papers write reams about the freedom of the press and warn us constantly about the danger of its loss. Some even accuse the President of violating this constitutional guarantee with the purpose of grabbing power.

The other side of that picture shows that newspapers and their reporters, (especially large dailies) are themselves human and love power, too. And they do not fail to exercise that power on many occasions, and oftimes in a very despotic way. Let the reader do his own documentation of that statement. Brain-washing now used by some is a totalitarian technique.

Another thing: The newspaper is fortunately, a private enterprise. It has to make money just as do the merchant, the banker, the farmer, and the rest of us. There is no reason to expect that its business is conducted under higher ethical standards than obtain in the business world around it. This means that newspapers sometimes sacrifice their integrity on the altar of financial profit--not all of them, but certainly many of them. Greed for gold has been known to dilute both integrity and patriotism. I do not say it is true in the recent howl of the press, but such is not outside the realm of the possible and makes a need for that grain of salt.

and Johnson 1967 in the race for county commissioner, Precinct 4. Butler, a South Amarillo insuranceman, is the first Republican ever to be elected to county office in Randall County.

For Justice of the Peace, Precinct 4, Democrat Woodson Hancock received 3502 votes while Van Allm received 2977.

Randall County voters also approved purchase of 34 voting machines at a cost of $61,132 by a substantial margin. Vote for the machines was 4109 as compared to 3487 against.

The voting machines were turned down by Canyon and rural residents of the county. Big boxes in South Amarillo came in to give the proposition a whopping majority.

Unopposed county officials were Democratic Candidates, Truett Hull, who was elected criminal district attorney; and Mrs. Mavis Hill, Democrat who has returned to the office of district clerk.

In three state-wide races Republicans led Democrats in Randall County balloting.

Jack Cox received 5083 votes in the race for governor while John Connally polled 3536 in the county. Jack Carswell received only 20.

Bill Hayes was favored over Preston Smith by a vote of 4349 to 3999 in the race for lieutenant governor. Desmond Barry led Joe Pool 4949 to 3423 here in the contest for congressman-at-large.

Waggoner Carr polled 4872 votes in the race for attorney general as compared to 3565 received by his opponent.

In the contest for railroad commission, Ben Ramsey received 4882 votes while Republican Hanson received 3396.

Robert Calvert, Democrat, received 4781 votes for comptroller of public accounts as compared to 3379 received by H. Smith, Republican, and 44 by Rummler, member of the Constitution Party.

Jerry Sadler, Democrat, received 4884 votes as compared to 3362 by Albert Fay, Republican. John White, Democrat incumbent, polled 4518 votes in the county as compared to 3630 received by Harry Hubbard, Republican.

Herbert Willborn received 4665 votes for the state board of education while Mrs. Edward McKay, Republican, received 3607 votes.

Randall County joined the rest of the district in approving the return of Grady Hazlewood to the state senate. Hazlewood, Democratic incumbent, received 5130 votes as compared to 3457 polled in Randall by his opponent, Scotty Ernce.

Red Simpson, Democrat, got the nod for state representative over his opponent Larry Williams, Republican. Simpson received 4785 votes while Williams received 3505.

AEW To Be Observed At School

November 11 through 17 will be observed as American Education Week in Canyon Schools, according to School Supt. Joe Gibson.

General theme is "Education Meets the Challenge of Change."

Basic purpose is to make every American aware of the important role education plays in a democracy and to help him realize that good schools and colleges are his personal responsibility.

American Education Week grew out of the revalation during World War I that an alarming proportion of the American people were illiterate and physically unfit.

National Education Association and the newly formed American Legion inaugurated American Education Week as a part of their plan for attaining a program of education adequate to American needs for the twentieth century.

Administrators, teachers and students extend an invitation for parents and patrons to visit school during the week. No special program is planned except in high school.

Future Teachers of America, D. A. Shirley Club, is sponsoring an assembly at 1:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon of next week. It will be held in the high school auditorium.

Dr. Ruth Lowes, education instructor at West Texas State College, will speak briefly on the AEW theme. The representative teacher and the representative patron will be honored.

Regular meeting of P-TA is scheduled for Thursday night of next week in the high school auditorium.

Buffs Rip Falcons

Sparked by touchdown interceptions by Jerry Richardson and Jim Ostrander, West Texas State's Buffaloes drubbed favored Bowling Green 23 to 7 here Saturday afternoon before 19,000 fans.

West Texas scored in the first 58 seconds of the game.

The Buffs kicked off with the wind at their backs. Ollie Ross kicked into the end zone and the Falcons took over on the 20.

Don Lisbon went up the middle for 3 yards and then Tony Ruggiero tossed an incomplete pass. He passed again on third down and Jerry Richardson grabbed the ball and went to the 13.

Quarterback Jim Dawson on a keeper went for the touchdown. Jerry Don Logan booted the extra point and gave the Buffs a 7-0 lead that never was threatened.

Ross kicked into the end zone again and four plays later the Falcons were forced to kick. On the first play from scrimmage Dawson's pass was intercepted by Ruggerio.

The Falcons punted when their offense failed to click and in 12 plays the Buffs moved the ball to the Falcon 14 and from there on a fourth down play Ross kicked a field goal which gave the Buffs a 10-0 edge.

Once in the second period the Buffs drove to the 19 yard line but a Ross field goal attempt failed and the quarter was scoreless.

As the second half opened Jerry King made a kick-off return to the 39. Eleven plays later the Buffs were on the Falcon 7 and Richardson went for the touchdown on a pitch out.

Logan kicked the extra point and the Buffs led 16 to 0.

Ross kicked off to the 15 from where there was a punt return to the 28.

On this series of plays came the most electrifying play of the game. Ruggerio's pass was intercepted by Ostrander and Ostrander ran 74 yards through perfect blocking for the touchdown. This time Hoot Gibson kicked the point and the Buffs led 23 to 0.

Ross kicked to the 8 and the ball was returned to the 43 by Ruggerio. The Falcon offense began to make headway. Ward passed to Weaver complete to the WT 44. Then Weaver went to the 31. Lispon on a sweep went to the WT 29.

Ward passed to Lisbon complete to the 24 and then Lisbon went off guard to the 20. Ward made 4 on a keeper and then Lisbon went to the 14. Bell gained a yard up the middle and then Jay Cunningham took a pitchout to the 10. From there he went over for the marker on the next play.

Elsea's point try was good and the score was 23 to 7.

The Buffs lost the kickoff on a fumble on the 43 and then the Falcons lost the ball on downs on the WT 24 as the quarter ended.

Once in the fourth quarter Bowling Green drove to the West Texas State 4 where the Buffs made a goal line stand and then again to the Buff 31 where they were again stopped.

The Falcons were not again able to threaten and the score stood 23 to 7 as the ball game ended.

For seven seniors on the Buff football team it was a fitting game to wind up their football in Buffalo Bowl.

Playing their last game on home ground were Jim Dawson, Jerry Don Logan, Bob Petrich, Dory Funk, Dick Lowery and Stu Johnson. These seven acted as captains for the Buff team Saturday afternoon.

Coach Joe Kerbel had this to say about Saturday's game:

"Richardson was the outstanding player. All of the tackles played real well.

"The guards did a good job, especially Mayfield and Stu Johnson.

"All the boys went out there and practiced the previous week and then they went out there and played in a way to bring a great victory to us. As for me and the coaching staff, I want to say we are so proud of them we can't see straight."

Along The Sideline

Athletic Director Frank Kimbrough was about the happiest we've ever seen him this week as an aftermath of the game with Bowling Green.

He estimates that the gate at the game was about 19,000 and he was very pleased with it.

This, coupled with the fact that season ticket orders for next year already are coming in, had a big smile on Frank's face. He said an order came in Monday from out of town for 18 season tickets.

Kimbrough said season ticket sales this year was up about 30 percent over last year and he's hoping for a jump of 100 percent for next season.

He said 1,000 new chairs--500 on each side of the present chair section--are being installed.

If West Texas State is going to remain in the major college ranks, we can just make up our minds to pay more for football tickets in the not too distant future. Down at Tech, a ticket costs $4 where we get $3 here and it costs an additional $2 for a chair in the Raider stadium.

The BAM Club picked up 31 new members Monday night at a meeting of the Quarterback Club in the college cafeteria. The BAM Club membership drive is in full swing. Proceeds are used for recruiting Buff football players.

We certainly hope we can bring Bowling Green's Falcons back here next year. Bowling Green is a fine club and we agree with Putt Powell that Doyt Perry is a refreshing football coach.

He made no excuses for his loss, said he thought his club played a good brand of ball in spite of being beaten and declared that West Texas State had the best team Saturday.

There were no sour grapes, no alibis. We hope to meet Coach Perry again.

Saturday's victory was a sweet one for the Buffs. It was redemption for their single loss of the season to the University of Arizona.

We are hoping that WT will be getting a bowl bid soon.

Folks who attended the Quarterback Club meeting were treated to a color film of the Bowling Green game. The color was splendid.

The film cost a pretty penny and will be used in recruiting and for other promotional purposes.

Buffs Cited For Showing In BG Game

Several members of the Buffalo football team were honored Monday night at Quarterback Club meeting for outstanding performance during the Bowling Green game.

Jim Dawson was cited as the straightest gun with an oak leaf cluster.

Jerry Richardson was honored as the biggest thief without a gun with an oak leaf cluster. He was cited for pass interceptions.

Quinton Eppinette was named stickiest gun with an oak leaf cluster. Jim Ostrander was pointed out as the riot gun and Jack Mayfield as the gatlin gun.

Jim Cunningham was cited as the flak gun and Charlie Daves as the recoiless rifle.

Eagles Test Winds In Tough District Battle

BY GARY LEE

Friday the Canyon Eagles will try to add a game to their winning streak when they play a team that they haven't beaten since coach Webb and his staff have been at Canyon.

This strong team has been beaten only once this year by another very strong team, Childress, who was rated number one in the state. The winner of this game has a very good shot at the district championship.

Eagle head coach, E. J. Webb, said that he felt like Floydada would be by far the toughest team the Eagles have played yet. Webb said that Floydada has the largest line in the district and the fastest back in the district.

Coach Webb said that Floydada has a good running attack and a good passing attack. Webb said that the Floydada coach as well as the players seemed to think the game will end in their favor.

Eagle end, Bob Begert, will be out of action again this Friday, but the rest of the line-up will be the same as last week's.

Eagle B Trounces Hereford

The Eagle "B" team made a good showing here Saturday morning against the Hereford Whiteface "B" team according to "B" team coach Bobby Byrd.

Byrd said that the entire team played good, but he felt like the line did an especially good job holding the Whitefaces. Byrd went on to say that the most outstanding players in the game were Riggie Gilbert, Bill Miller, Ricky Miller, Jody Sheets, Red Parker, and Bill Jarnigan.

The final score was Canyon 30, Hereford 14.

WHAT IS AN INTERNIST?

Answer — A physician specializing in the diagnosis and treatment of disorders affecting the inside of the body. Sometimes the symptoms of an illness can be almost the same for different diseases. Then, your family Doctor may wish the opinion of an Internist to confirm or help him make the proper diagnosis.

This help often saves much sickness-time. It illustrates why it is seldom wise for people to attempt to diagnose or treat themselves. You are safer when you consult your physician.

cooked and then mashed. Gravy is made for the potatoes from drippings off the fried sausage. Beans are heated, breads are readied, pies warmed and all made ready for the crowd that will be let in at 11 a.m. when the festival opens for business.

The lunch meal is served cafeteria style and last until 2 p.m., when the serving line closes to get ready for the evening meal.

The bazaar and country store also open at 11 a.m. and stay open through the afternoon and evening. Prizes that wil be raffled off in the evening following the supper meal are placed on display in the main parish hall during the afternoon.

The Bazaar will feature the sale of homemade needle work, curtains, rugs, stuffed dolls and animals, bed quilts and ceramics. Mrs. W.P. Jannssen if chairman of the bazaar committee. Workers in the bazaar are Mrs. Ben Buecker, Mrs. John Batenhorst, Mrs. Clem Friemel and Mrs. Conrad Westhoff.

The country store will feature mostly the home cooked goods that are to be sold at the meals. Sausage, however, will not be sold until after the evening meal to insure that enough will be available for that meal. The store will especially feature canned goods and home preserves of fruits and vegetables. Mrs. Max Hoffman is chairman of the country store committee. Workers on the committee are Mrs. Frank Grabber, Mrs. A.C. Evers, Mrs. Ed. J. Evers, Mrs. Anton Grotegut, Mrs. Aline Lindemann and Mrs. John Bedenk.

Outside games at the festival will include horseshoe pitching, pitching games with baseballs and dolls, a fishing pond for the kiddoes and soda pop and ice cream in the afternoon.

Prizes will be given in the main parish hall shortly after the evening meal at 7:30 p.m. Prizes are: first prize, $250 wardrobe for men or ladies, whichever wins; second prize, 4 passenger car tires; third prize, one half of a processed beef; fourth prize a hi-fi record player; fifth prize, a patio table and benches; sixth prize, a card table and chair set; seventh prize, stainless steel coffee maker; ninth prize, an electric floor heater; and tenth prize, a floor length mirror. Other prizes will also be given.

A special committe will go into high gear to get the main hall ready for the dance which will be held at 9 p.m.

Billy Briggs and his band with Clyde Miller will entertain the dancers and provide the music.

L.A. Haschke is chairman of the ticket committee. Other members are A.R. (PeeWee) Friemel, Clarence Kern, Roscoe Richardson, Math Albracht, Vince Ramaekers and John Wieck.

That horse's back gets pretty hard during bareback riding competitions at the West Texas T-Anchor Rodeo Club's annual Fall Intramurals Rodeo last Saturday night.

Stevens Is Top Waddy In WT Fraternity Rodeo

Herb Stevens, representing the ATO Fraternity at West Texas State College, won All Around Champion Cowboy of the T-Anchor Intra-murals Rodeo last Saturday night.

Stevens won first place in the fraternity divisions of the bull riding and calf roping competitions and second place in the fraternity division of the bare back riding competitions.

The ATO's won first place in the fraternity competitions. The points earned in the intramurals rodeo will count towards the West Texas Intramurals Championships. Stevens is also a member of the T-Anchor Rodeo Club at WT.

Judges at the event were Don McRoberts, foreman of the Tierra Blanca Ranch east of Canyon and Sam Wilson, a student at West Texas State. The judges were chosen by the contestants prior to the start of the rodeo.

Harold Williams, assistant professor in the Agriculture Department at WT and Red Doyle, vice-president of the T-Anchors were the pickup men for the competitions. Their job was to help riders of the broncos and bulls to get off their unwilling mounts.

Winners of the competitions were as follows:

Bull Riding, Independent Division:
First place-- Beryl Calvert,
Second place--Chuck Potts

Bull Riding, Fraternity Division:
First place--Herb Stevens, ATO
Second place--Tom Hamilton, KA

Bareback Riding, Independent Division
First place--Jim Braxton
Second place--James Stockett

Bareback Riding, Fraternity Division:
First place--Roy Hunter, KA
Second place--Herb Stevens, ATO.

Calf Tying, Independent Division:
First place--Jerry Keen
Second place--James Stockett

Calf Tying, Fraternity Division:
First place--Herb Stevens, ATO.
Second place--Tom Hamilton, KA

Goat Tying, Girls Division
First place--Jean Triplett representing the WT Block and Bridle Club.
Second place--Judy Tasley, ZTA

Goat Sacking, Girls Divisions Teams:
First place--Kay Pafford and Hazel Smitho
Second place--Kay Cole and Karen Daniels, ADP

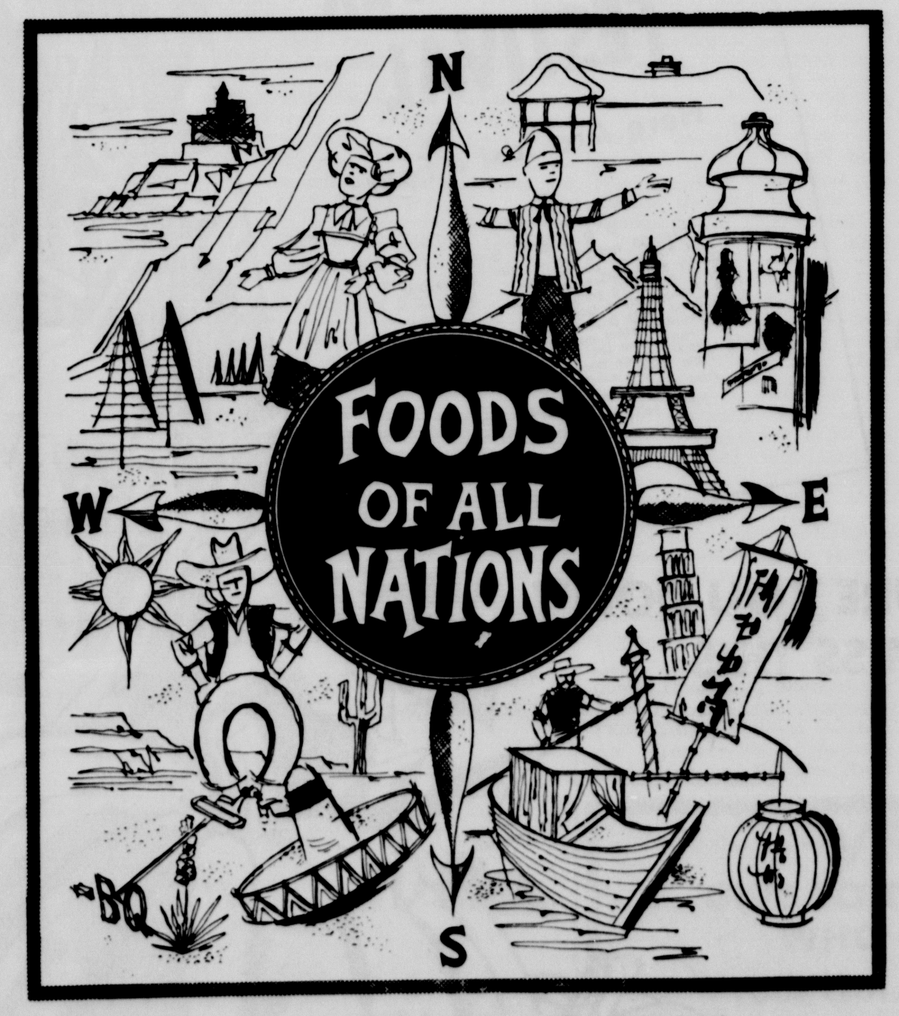

Darrel Williams, president of the WT T-Anchor Rodeo Club, and sponsors of the rodeo show, said, "We had a real fine show this year, though the attendance wasn't what we expected. We think the cool weather and conflicts at the college hindered the attendance," he said.

"We will also have the intercollegiate rodeo in the spring about April or May," Williams added. "We would like for every one to plan to attend that one."

Talking Tom At Church Party Friday

A mysterious Talking Tom will be on hand Friday night at First Baptist Church following the Canyon-Floydada football game.

All Canyon High School students are invited to the fun fest in the fellowship hall. They will be greeted by the omniscient talking turkey.

Additional entertainment is also planned, including the appearance of James Barber, director of religious activities at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview.

Refreshments will be served.

"This is the last home game," states one of the persons making plans for the get-together, "and we hope all the high school students will come. The Floydada high school students are also invited."

The hour of fun will end at 11:00 p.m. Coach Jeep Webb is serving on the planning committee.

Canyon Eagle Booster Club vice-president, Clark Jarnagin, right, is shown here pinning a booster button on Mayor Delbert Lowes. The Booster Club is making a maximum attendance effort for the Floydada game which will be played here at 7:30 o'clock Friday night. All Canyon people have been urged to become Eagle Boosters and attend the game.

Palo Duro Foliage Is Beautiful

For those interested in the beauties of nature, a trip out to Palo Duro Canyon State Park may be in order. Park ranger Buddy Hoskins says the fall colors are out.

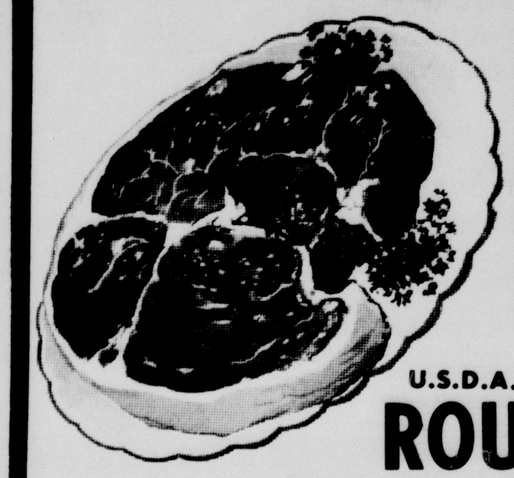

He said the cottonwoods in the canyons and the grasses on the floor and slopes are changing colors about now to the brilliant reds, yellows and browns of fall.

The first good frost hit the canyon a few days ago and has made the canyon a bit more beautiful than it normally is. Crisp weather and several clear days should draw considerable crowds to the park, Hoskins said.

News Notes From The

RANDALL COUNTY FARM BUREAU

The membership quota for the year ending October 31, 1962, was 480 members paid. The membership total for the year ending October 31, 1962 was 484 members paid. This is an increase of 11 members over last years's total of 473. It is most gratifying to the Randall County Board of Directors to go over the quota and show a good increase of members each year.

We don't know what next year's quota will be but we are going to endeavor to reach 500. We believe that the finest agricultural organization in the world is the Farm Bureau, and that there are still a number of people in Randall County who desire to belong to this organization. It is also a pleasure to report that of the 27 counties in District I, 21 counties either met or surpassed their quota this year.

The best that had been done heretofore was 11 counties meeting their quota. The total membership in District I will exceed the 1962 quota by 200 to 300 members. This is most inspiring to the leadership of Texas Farm Bureau. This trend is prevalent over the State, and people in and supporting agriculture are continuing to express their veiws through their membership in Farm Bureau.

Of the 484 membership in Randall County we have approximately 290 of these enrolled in Blue Cross. The Texas Farm Bureau has the largest Blue Cross Group in the State. Your Randall County Farm Burea membership entitles you and your family to this excellent service.

If you are not now a member of Texas Farm Bureau Blue Cross, your inquiry to the Randall Farm Bureau Office will gain you the information you need to join this Texas Farm Bureau Group.

The Randall Farm Bureau Board of Directors met on Thursday, November 1st. There were 16 members present representing 8 communities. Five delegates and alternates were nominated. The delegates who will represent you at the State Convention to be held in San Antonio November 11-14 are: President R. B. Gist, Jr., Director Melvin Schaeffer, Director Joe Wise, Director W. T. Reynolds, and 2nd Vice President Bill Patke. Alternate delegate Director E. E. Sharp will accompany the five delegates to the Convention. Each delegate will have a copy of the Resolutions approved by the Randall County Farm Bureau at the Annual County Convention held in October. The Texas Farm Bureau State Policies for the coming year will be voted upon at the Convention which your delegates are attending.

Livestock and dairy producers got a real break last week when the American Medical Association issued a statement advising the American people to stop risking their health through futile diets aimed at reducing cholesterol in the blood. "Although some day science may come up with a diet that can prevent heart disease, such a development appears to be well into the future. It probably would take a generation to prove whether any diet can reduce deaths due to heart or blood vessel diseas...

"The American diet did not happen by accident. It resulted from much accumulated research and experience. Any changes in a diet of such proven worth must await much more study and experience....

"For good nutrition, the American Medical Association council recommends a well-balanced diet chosen from these four basic food groups:

"The Milk Group--milk, cheese, and ice cream.

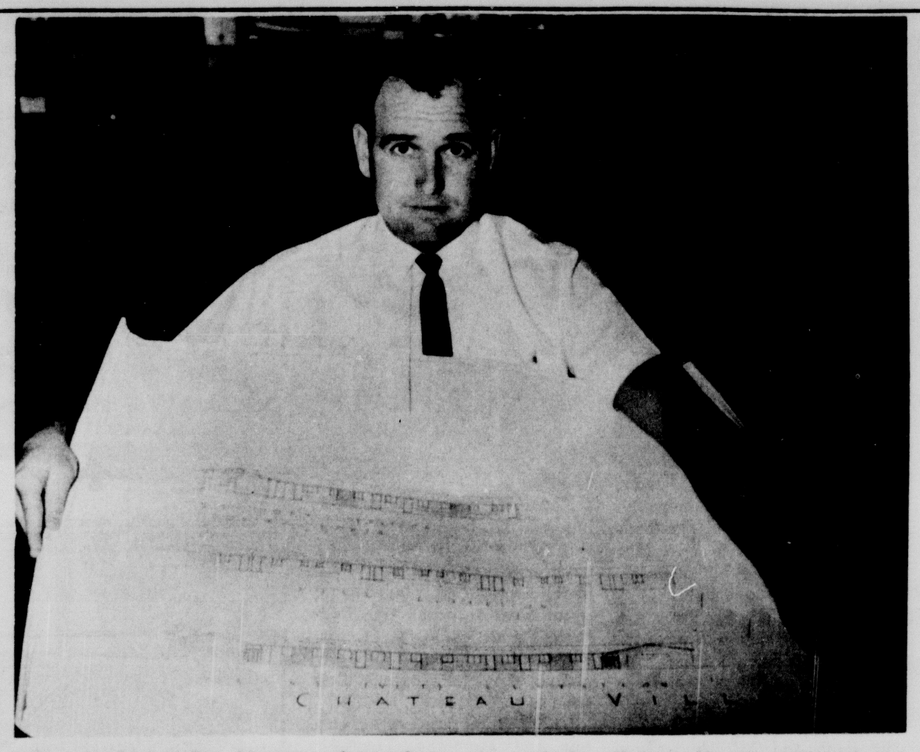

"The Meat Group--beef, veal, lamb, pork, poultry, eggs, and fish.

"The Vegetable-Fruit Group--fruits and vegetables rich in vitamins A and C.

"The Bread-Cereal Group---whole grain, enriched or restored.

"Butter, margarine, fats, or oils also are needed. Even those on weight reduction regimens need food from all these groups.

"While" much remains to be learned about cholesterol and other aspects of nutrition, scientists do know that the American diet provides all the nutrients essential to health and that a varied diet is the best way of maintaining a high level of health. The virtual absense of dietary diseases in this country attests to this fact."

Holstein Records Announced

Registered Holstein cows from this area are prominently mentioned in an official production testing report received today from Holstein-Friesian Association of America headquarters at Brattleboro, Vermont.

R Hales Chief Myrtle 4809-872, a two year-old owned by Richmond Hales, Canyon, produced 18,167 lbs. milk and 677 lbs butterfat in 365 days.

Palo Duro Raven Roberta 49-49889, a two year-old owned by Louis G. Hinders, Canyon, produced 17,842 lbs. milk and 647 lbs. butterfat in 365 days.

According to the national Holstein organization, the new production figures compare to an annual output of 7,211 lbs. of milk and 270 lbs. butterfat by the average U. S. dairy cow.

Texas A. & M. College supervised the weighing and testing of the Holstein records as part of the breed's nation-wide herd testing programs.

Tax Course Slated Here

An income tax school for farmers and ranchers will be held Thursday afternoon of next week from 1:30 until 3:30 o'clock in the Junior Livestock Building.

It is sponsored by the Extension Service of Texas A & M and the Internal Revenue Service.

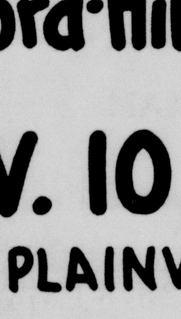

Jim Murphrey, area farm management specialist with the Amarillo extension office, and a representative of the IRS will be present.

The course is designed for farmers and ranchers and for professional people who do tax work for farmers and ranchers.

Upper Classes Win In WT Powder Puff Bowl

The West Texas State College juniors and seniors defeated the freshmen and sophomores 8-6 in the Powder Puff football game held in Buffalo Bowl last Thursday night at 7:30.

Gloria Reynolds made the first score for the junior-senior team on a 15 yard run in the first quarter. The lowerclassmen scored in the second quarter on a pass play completed to Judy Bowman, but the touchdown was called back bacause of a pushing violation.

The score was tied 6-6 in the third quarter when Carol Loftin crossed the goal line after a 20-yard run. Final score of the game came in the fourth quarter. The freshman-sophomore team fumbled the ball in the end zone on a punt play, and the upperclassmen picked up a safety which put them ahead 8-6.

Quarterback for the freshmen-sophomores was Zoan Winegeart, and Marion Rhoades called signals for the junior-senior team. Standouts for the underclassmen were Paulette Sullivan, who picked up the most yardage, and Bonnie Jo Whittington, who played the last half of the game in her bare feet.

Coaches for the 25-member freshman-sophomore team were Larry Dunaway and Bill Callarman. There were 15 girls playing for the junior-senior team.

The spectators were entertained during the game by 15 pledges from three of the WT fraternities who were dressed as cheerleaders. The boys led yells and rang the Victory Bell throughout the game.

The Powder Puff game is an annual affair and is sponsored by the P. E. Majors' Club.

Rhodes In Who's Who

Jess Lynn Rhodes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Rhodes, 2414 9th Avenue, has been named to the 1962-63 edition of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities at Harding College.

The annual publication lists outstanding students in educational institutions throughout the nation. Selection is based on achievements in scholarship, leadership and extra-curricular activities.

Rhodes, a senior chemistry and Bible major, is a 1959 graduate of Springdale High School. He has been a member of the A Cappella Chorus and is a member of Pi Kappa Delta, national debate fraternity, Mohican social club and is the religious chairman for the Student Association.

Prairie Wildlife

HUNTING, FISHING AND CONSERVATION

Last week we discussed poisonous plants of the Panhandle, adding that this week's colume would be devoted to migratory waterfowl.

So here we go.

What many newcomers to the Panhandle may not know is that the Panhandle area is a part of the major north-south flyway of North American migratory waterfowl. The many potholes, small lakes and marshes that dot the prairies are an important link in the survival of migrating waterfowl. Many of the larger Panhandle lakes and ponds serve as breeding places as well. Often, during the fall and winter months, these same wetlands are so covered with waterfowl that the surface of the lakes are hidden from the sun. That makes for good hunting.

The sad fact of this year's waterfowl hunting season, is that it will be the shortest season on record with lower bag limits than have ever been imposed. This is a national condition.

Sound awful? It is.....but with good reason. Serious drouth in the Southern Canadian province has ruined much of the breeding grounds for North American migratory waterfowl. Ruined habitat has cut deeply into game bird populations The drouth is going into its fourth year.

The Canadian breeding grounds which are in the rolling prairie country of Southern Canada, have thousands of potholes and marshlands which are usually kept filled by runoff from rains and melting snow. These potholes, with their heavy aquatic vegetation, are the main breeding grounds for most of the North American migratory waterfowl.

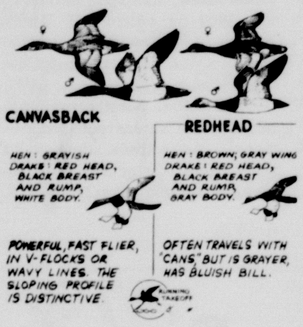

The potholes are shallow depressions in the prairie about two or three feet deep. Some are twenty to thirty feet deep. Vegetation around these wetlands is precious. The prairie grasses and marginal plants around the holes provide food and materials for nest building.

Bullrush and cattail are the two main plants that provide cover for the nests and materials with which to build them. Without these plants, migratory waterfowl will have a hard time of it. The drouth has dried up more than half of the wetlands in the Southern Canada provinces, thus destroying their waterfowl breeding ground capibilities.

Especially hard hit among waterfowl are the redhead and canvesback ducks. These two birds are water nesters, depending upon plenty of water and aquatic vegetation to breed and raise their young properly. Since the drouth in Southern Canada has dried up more than half the nesting and breeding sites, these two species were the first to feel it. They are also the ones who will have the hardest time making a comeback, and thus are on the protected list.

It should be easy to see why the Fish and Wildlife service has imposed this short season on duck hunters. It is also evident that Redhead and Canvassback ducks are on the protected list because of breeding difficulties they are going through.

There is some indication however, that portions of the drouth may be breaking up. Some parts of the Southern Canadian prairies have had a few showers last summer, though they were too late to do any good for the waterfowl breeding season, except for the late nesters.

But this does give some hope that the drouth is beginning to crack. If it does and the northern prairies get several wet years to boot, the waterfowl populations should build up rapidly.

It is generally felt among those concerned with migratory waterfowl management, that when the drouth does break, that in a few short years, our duck and geese populations will come back to their former numbers because of improved waterfowl habitats and the increased numbers of refuges the fish and game boys have set up along the North American waterfowl flyways.

It is also felt, however, that the reduced season and lower bag limits will lower the numbers of federal duck stamps pruchased this year. We want to encourage hunters to go ahead and purchase these stamps because they are a direct investment toward the purchase of wetlands and their management as waterfowl areas.

The Federal Fish and Wildlife Service is actively going ahead with its program of purchasing and or leasing wetlands for waterfowl breeding grounds.

All monies from the purchase of duck stamps was set aside two years ago, exclusively for the purchase or leasing of these lands. Thousands of acres of good waterfowl habitat have been saved from drainage or other uses destructive toward waterfowl breeding grounds.

Without this program, many species of waterfowl would disappear from the face of the earth. The sale of duck stamps is what keeps the program going.

Under the helpful hint department, lets discuss the coming duck season. The season on rails and gallinules closed on October 20, so they are out.

Hunting for geese and brant started officially October 31. This season will close at sundown January 13, 1963. Sandhill cranes may be taken from November 3 to December 2.

Ducks and coots (No open season on redheads, canvasbacks and black-bellied tree ducks.) may be taken after noon, December 6 until sunset December 30. While emphasizing redheads and canvasbacks, we want to add that balckbellied tree ducks are a rare thing around these parts and should be little problem to hunters.

By way of information so that hunters may be able to better identify redheads and canvasbacks, we'll give our readers a short rundown on them.

We get a sprinkling of redheads and canvasbacks through the Panhandle during the fall and winter months, though not too many, especially this season.

These birds are divers, feeding on the bottoms of ponds and marshy wetlands. They both have stocky bodies with short necks and relatively large heads which have a redish tint. Redheads and canvasbacks only rarely feed in the fields. Being divers, they spend most of their time in the water.

Their flight is very erratic, low and swooping. They are easily decoyed as they have a habit of circling ponds and wet areas they are investigating.

Their bodies are whitish. The canvasback has a white back, the redhead, a light grey, both a blackish breast. Both the canvasback and redhead have red heads. The redhead has a smaller, bluish colored bill and the canvasback a rather long, blackish bill.

Redheads and canvasbacks are endangered because their breeding grounds are lands that are suitable for agriculture. With establishment of adequate refuges, their future may be made more secure.

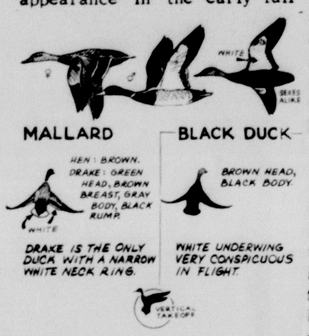

Redheads and canvasbacks usually stay to themselves, flying and feeding in small groups by themselves. Their low, swooping flights are very similar to that of a green-winged teal.

Redheads and Canvasbacks resemble the teal in flight though they are somewhat longer. The teal has a bluish-green patch on the trailing edge of its wing. It is usually noticible from the top or bottom.

One of the best ways to tell a teal from other ducks, especially redheads and canvasbacks is the extremely rapid wingbeat of the teal.

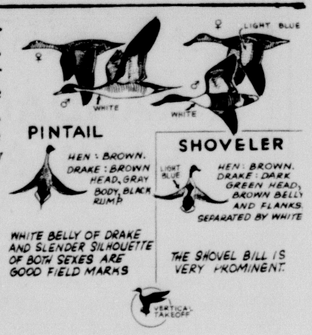

Another helpful way to avoid killing the protected redheads and canvasbacks is to hunt only the larger species of ducks and then only the drakes. Nearly all females of all species of duck are so similiar in appearance in the early fall that it is difficult for an expert to tell them apart in flight.

Some of the more popular ducks that are likely to be seen locally are the mallards, pintails and widgeons. These are large ducks that are easily identified in flight. Again stick to the males.

Also locally important this year is the restriction on bagging only one mallard. Since the green-headed mallard is easily identified, it might be a good one to concentrate on. this bird is unmistakable with his big green head and yellow bill.

Second in importance to the duck hunter is the pintail. This bird has a long, thin and graceful body with a long neck and head. His most distinctive feature is his general long, thin shape with the pencil-like tail feathers that give him his name. He also has a very prominent white breast.

The Texas Game and Fish supplement is out now. Copies can be picked up at Game Warden Stan McDonough's home in Canyon or at the Buffalo Lake National Wildlife Refuge in Umbarger. Both are sources of information on the rules and restrictions for the 1962 migratory waterfowl hunting season. The refuge also has a lim-

... the kind that results when you give your car adequate protection. It's as simple as regular use of Shamrock Motor Oil.

Shamrock Motor Oils come in different categories as engines do. Your Shamrock dealer will recommend the right one for your car.

You'll notice a strong family resemblance in Shamrock's new motor oil cans! There's an even stronger one in their quality... quality you can measure by your car's performance.

Comfort, silence and luxury to challenge any car from anywhere

There's a lot underneath the beauty of the '63 Chevrolet. Its roomy, comfortable Body by Fisher screens out noise and shock. There's instant response in a choice of 6- or 8-cylinder engines, a host of refinements to make it run and look like new longer, and plenty more that make it hard to believe it's a low-priced car. But your Chevrolet dealer can prove it!

KEEPING UP WITH THE ARTS

Do you realize that Christmas is less than seven weeks away? Can you believe that 1962 is about gone forever? Do you know that the hoola hoop has been forgotten? How time flies!

Everything seemed so important this year (at least for the moment) in our lives. Any crisis when it is behind us suddenly appears to be much less important when it has passed by.

This December it will be fun and interesting, too, to read the reviews of "what has happened in 1962". You will see television looking back into the past year of great events. Merits will be given out to best movies, best music, best plays best actors, best best!

The whole story does remain that this is truly past history-- We must now wonder what is to come in 1963.

In the months of November and December, sit down and make a list of predictions. Such as: How will music change? What new fads might become popular? What will TV think up to be "really different"? Will the "doctor shows" be just as popular this time next year?

If you are really smart about predicting, you can "try" to forecast what will happen in government affairs, at home and abroad. (Then you can say, "I told you so," when things go in the opposite direction.)

Can you predict fashion changes? Do you know what color will be the rage in 1963? Your bath towels, your color schemes, your home decorations will be "old hat" next November and December.

Where will rock and roll be? Where will the famous twist be? What will happen to women's hair styles? Or color?

How many top movies of this year will you remember by this time next year? How about last year, how about that memory?

There are dozens and dozens of predictions that you can make for 1963. Write them down. Seal them in an envelope and put in a safe place to be opened next year about this time.

Have you ever noticed the sealed cement plaque in the air terminal waitingroom in Amarillo Airport? It has a mysterious message about the contents not being revealed until some future date. It causes much speculation about predictions that may have been sealed up some time ago.

"Back in the good old days" is too far back for even 1962 now...We have 1963 right around the corner.

Write your predictions about medicine, moon travel, pounds you plan to lose, painting (just try to predict how much further out it can go!), literature, education, music, TV, and make the list long and interesting. You can predict the weather. No one ever wins on this!

Half Time Performance At Game Is Outstanding

BY JIM THOMAS

One of the outstanding attractions at West Texas football games is the half-time activity.

The spectacular staged at half-time Saturday at the Buffalo-Bowling Green game was true to form.

Nearly 4,000 high school students from all over the Panhandle were on hand. They gave WT some help in the cheerleading department.

High school and junior high school cheerleaders from various schools were present. A novelty performance was staged before the game when a number of cheerleaders lined up at the south goal to welcome the Buff squad onto the field.

The cheerleaders did just what their name implies. They acted as one along the West side lines in front of the near capacity crowd of WT fans, forming a single line of more than 30 cheerleaders. The crowd reacted favorably. They nearly tore the stands down when WT made its first touchdown of many within the first 58 seconds of the first quarter.

During the half-time performance the Brownfield High School Band from Brownfield was first on the field in their brilliant red uniforms with silvery spangled fronts. Their Drum Majors in bright black and red uniforms led the fancy band through intricate marching drills with a new twist.

They started off playing the standard marching music, but as the band centered on the playing field, the music stopped but the band didn't.

They kept right on marching in perfect unison to the rythm of drum sticks on the edge of a lone snare drum. It was most impressive. The WT band in all its regalia, waited patiently on the north goal line for its turn to perform.

The Brownfield Band executed a large square on the field, pinching it in to form a still larger X, then constantly changing in shape until an eight pointed star was formed. The crowd was evidently pleased by the show because they gave the band a big hand.

The band then formed an X that stretched from the north 20 yardline to the south 20 and then went into a square while the high stepping drum major danced onto the field as the square was being firmed up.

During this performance the Brownfield majorettes were putting on a show of their own on the west side lines doing dance steps for the WT crowd.

The band finished by forming four ranks facing the WT crowd, saluting and then marching off the south side of the field as the famed West Texas State College Marching Band was led on the fied by Drum Major Clyde Wilson.

The WT band, with its 128 marching students, marched on the field in cadence to the rythm of tapping drum sticks on a snare drum. The band started off in its outstanding blue uniforms with white trim with a snappy tune called the March From Holst Suite in F, slowly highstepping onto the field. The tune is a number usually used on the concert stage only.

The band reached the center of the field where they divided into many short ranks all of which spun in revolving circles like so many wagon wheel spokes. The announcer called attention to the WT band as it then played, "Parade of the Champions."

As the announcer explained the procedure, the big WT band did a drill honoring the visiting high school bands and cheerleaders. The drill consisted of the segements of the WT band marching through each other's ranks at right angles to one another while playing "Glory To The Gridiron."

The WT band then did its special salute of the day to Buff Morris, loved administrator of the famous WT Opportunity Plan which has helped hundreds of WT students to make it through college by constantly loaning them money for their expenses. The band formed a huge BUFF design on the field facing the west stands.

They next executed their famed WT marching cadence, "Buffalo Fight Song", as the WT Buffaloes reentered onto the field.

Drum major Clyde Wilson then led the band to the west side of the field while the WT majorettes performed on the east side. The band concluded its performance with a march from the Holst Suite in E. The crowd gave the band and its leaders a big hand as they left the field.

As the Buffaloes were warming up for the start of the second half, the Sam Houston Rifles Drill Team, a ROTC Marching Team entered the playing field from the south goal line. While the announcer told the near capacity crowd some of the history of the drill team, mentioning their coed sponsors the team did a close-order drill, forming a revolving circle in the center of the field around their commander. They were doing the parade formation of "Present Arms" while constantly revolving in the circle.

The drill team then parted the circle, with one end of the marching column going to the west side of the stadium where they ran into the WT team as they were warming up.

When the football players finally cleared the area, the San Houston Rifles lined up along the full length of the west sideline and proceeded to do variations of "Present Arms" with each man performing individually after the man next to him.

It gave the appearance of a row of falling dominoes, as each man knelt on one knee as he finished his performance. It was really quite colorful and the crowd loved it if one is to judge by the applauding and yells of approval. The team then marched off the field along the sidelines with their shiny blue helments blazing in the sun. The West Texas Marching Band will accompany the team to Denton for the coming out-of-town game.

Boys from Cal Farley's Boy's Ranch north of Amarillo are picking up baled feed grown on the Wilson Brothers Farm east of Canyon.

Area Farmers Donate Feed To Boys' Ranch

Youngsters from Cal Farley's Boy's Ranch, north of Amarillo, are collecting feed donated by Randall County citizens this week.

Randall County Justice of the Peace, W. A. "Bill" Wilson, his brother Robert P. Wilson and Randall County Sheriff "Slim" Johnston have planted twenty acres of feed for the northern Panhandle ranch.

Wilson said that Ray Noblitt, a retired businessman from Clarendon who has donated his spare time to the boy's ranch, asked him and several others in the county to plant 5 to 10 acres of feed for the ranch.

Wilson said the boy's ranch is located in the Canadian River brakes which means the ranch can't raise any of its own feed due to the poor soil there. The feed cost to the ranch is a total expense.

Wilson, in partnership with his brother Robert P. Wilson, planted 10 acres in dry land Higeri grain sorghums on the Wilson Brothers Farm, east of Canyon.

Wilson said the boy's ranch requested that the feed be baled due to transportation problems and handling difficulties by the boys.

He said they cut and windrowed the feed and had the baling done. The ranch sent two big trucks down Saturday to load the 432 bales that the 10 acres produced.

"We realize it isn't much, but when the boys can't raise their own feed and it takes so much feed and beef for the ranch, and the ranch is doing such a wonderful job for the boys, we feel that every little bit helps," he said.

"If we and other area farmers can plant 5 or 10 acres of feed each year, and have this thing catch on so that everyone is helping out, we can save the boy's ranch a lot of cash which they can put back into other facilities." Wilson added.

He said the boys would pick up the feed on weekends when the youngsters are out of school.

Sheriff "Slim" Johnston, who planted 10 acres of cane feed said, "No one realizes like we do in law enforcement, what the boy's ranch is doing for these boys. This work carries over to the families of these boys when they grow up and raise their own children."

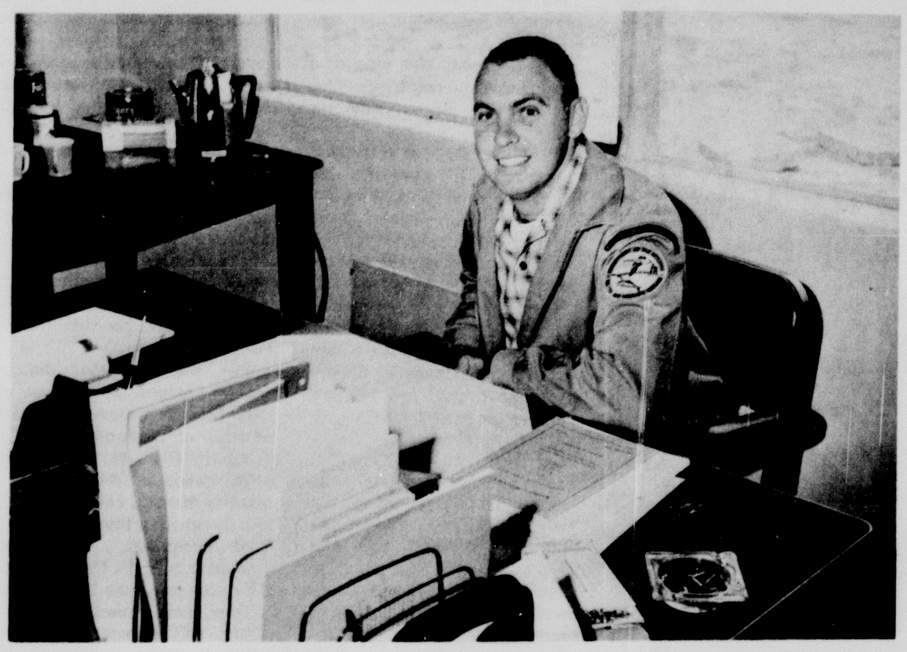

Johnston said the boys are going to load up in the next few days the grain he has planted and had bailed.

He added, "The feed goes to the boy's ranch cattle and horses. They raise their own beef and milk."

Sheriff Johnston said, "The main thing here is to encourage other ranchers and farmers to contribut 5 to 10 acres of feed to the boy's ranch. They will be glad to come and pick it up."

Buffalo Lake Wintering Area For Migratory Fowl

Bob Brown, refuge manager for the Buffalo Lake National Wildlife Refuge west of Canyon on Buffalo Lake, is undertaking the development of the refuge for increased waterfowl wintering and developing recreation potential.

Bob Brown, refuge manager for the Buffalo Lake National Wildlife Refuge, is a busy man these days. Brown is in the process of formulating a master development plan for the refuge which will include development of the area for recreation.

Buffalo Lake is a 1400 acre man-made reservoir on the Tierra Blanca Creek which flows into Palo Duro Canyon and the Little Prairie Dog Town Fork Creek of the Red River.

The reservoir was constructed in 1939 by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and the U.S. Forest Service as a recreation project and a project for upstream flood control. It averages about 15 or 20 feet in depth.

In 1958, the lake and its surrounding uplands were transferred from the Soil Conservation Service to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service as a national wildlife refuge. The lake was made a refuge due to its being a wintering and resting area for up to 1,000,000 migrating ducks and geese. During peak waterfowl concentrations the main portion of the 1400 acre lake is often covered with ducks and geese.

Brown said the functions of the refuge and its personnel are first to maintain the lake and its surrounding area as a suitable place for migrating waterfowl to winter, feed and rest in their travels.

He said the refuge also serves a dual purpose now, in that it will be developed for recreation activities.

Examples of what the wildlife men do to maintain the lake as a good waterfowl refuge include farming or planting of 200 acres in small grains such as sorghum and winter wheat to provide supplemental foods for wintering waterfowl.

The conservationists also regulate activities of the lake itself during the winter months which is the waterfowl wintering season. Regulations include the restriction of boats on the main portion of the lake and cars and other vehicles on land bordering the lake, particularly near the waterfowl feeding areas. This is necessary, says Brown to prevent disturbance to the resting and feeding waterfowl, which is the primary purpose of the refuge.

Brown said the long term objectives of the refuge are to maintain and improve the waterfowl habitat of the refuge as a satisfactory wintering place for waterfowl. This will include the development of marsh areas around the lake providing additional natural feeding area for the ducks and geese.

He emphasized that the long term objectives of the refuge include its development for recreation. He said recreation development will be concentrated mostly towards the dam and the concession area.

Recreational improvements will include the construction of several picnic areas, camping areas, boat launching ramps and expanded concessions. Brown said the wildlife service is aware of the sharply increased need for recreation and plans to use the lake and its adjacent lands to help supply some of that need.

The refuge manager emphasizes, however, that recreation uses of the area will be secondary to the primary function of the refuge which is maintaining it as a good migratory waterfowl wintering and feeding place.

Brown said he will be glad to supply information about the refuge to anyone interested. He added that the fish and wildlife service is working up informational leaflets and signs to better inform the public about the refuge.

Some of the lower grades of meat are usually better for the cuts which are cooked slowly. Steaks are usually more tender if taken from the higher grades.

WATER is a commodity so precious that no tyrant has ever dared deny it to his people.

Improvement Under Way At Palo Duro

Park Ranger Buddy Hoskins of Palo Duro State Park says additions are being constructed to the rim-side cabins near the concession building.

The cabins are being enlarged as living quarters for the new park employees. Improvements consist of several new bedrooms with a living room-kitchen combination.

The cabins are famous in years gone by as having the largest and deepest back yards in the world. The canyon drops off directly behind each cabin to the depth of nearly a thousand feet.

The main construction will be to the cabin housing the Edgar Boehm family. Mrs. Boehm will have one of the finest views in the country out her kitchen window.

Boehm is construction Foreman for the big canyon park. He was with Ranger Hoskins at Corpus Christi State Park in the Valley when Hoskins was transfered to Palo Duro Canyon. Hoskins brought him along when he moved.

The cabins were originally built in 1932 as tourist accomodations by the Civilian Conservation Corps. The CCC was the main construction crew for the park. The cabins are made of local sandstone quarried out of the canyon.

Boehm said these cabins retain their heat in winter and are cool in summer. He adds he is really looking forward to enjoying the view of Timber Canyon and Palo Duro Canyon this coming summer from his new patio, which is a part of the new construction.

Miss Grabber Honored At Newman Convention

Newman Club members from six area colleges gathered at West Texas State College Sunday for a regional meeting at the Catholic Student Center.

Approximately 110 students from Texas Technological College, Amarillo Junior College, South Plains Junior College, San Angelo Junior College attended the one day convention, according to Rev. George H. Sallaway.

One of the highlights of the meet was the dinner served at 11:30, which was prepared by members of the Altar Society of St. Ann's Church. Chairmen were Mrs. Bernice Allen and Mrs. John Schoenenberger.

Also during the convention, Miss Mary C. Grabber was presented a John Henry Newman Honorary Society pin for her work in the club. One of the requirements for membership in this society is a major contribution to Newman Club work either nationally or locally. Rev. Sallaway and Dean Irlbeck, president of the WT Newman Club, made the presentation. Miss Grabber lives at the Newman Club Center, 2614 Fourth Street, and is coordinator of activities there.

"Eighteen students were initiated into the Newman Club during the offertory of the Mass at 5 p.m.," said Rev. Sallaway. One of the initiates was Miss Sue Frank, a WT student of Canyon.

The meet also featured study sessions and workshops, and ended with a dance.

Guest speakers were Dr. H. Heichelheim, Texas Tech, "The Ecumenical Council, Church Reform;" Rev. William Hanley, Tech's Newman Club Chaplain, "Ecumenical Possibilities and Projects on Campus;" and Rev. Sallaway, "The Newman Apostolate, A New Challenge for America."

Mike Ratliff, Tech's Newman Club president and regional director, led the first workshop on leadership. A panel composed of Rev. Michael Henneghan, chaplain of Amarillo's club; Miss Grabber, WT Newman coordinator; and Dr. Gordon Golder, Odessa College, conducted the second workshop, which was on religious responsibilities.

All arrangements for the convention were made by Bob Halencak.

NORTH RANDALL NEWS

Recent dinner guests in the Bill Harp home were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Baird of Borger. They are both teachers in the Borger School System.

Den 6, Pack 97 Cub Scouts toured Canyon Fire Station Monday Oct. 29th. Then they went back to Duane Harp's home on Sundown Lane for a Halloween Party and bobbed for apples.

We are glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ford and sons, Ricky and Roy to the neighborhood. They moved to their new home at Jennings & Tyndale Oct. 13th from Amarillo. They love it out here on their "farm" and are thrilled with the Canyon schools.

Our best wishes go to Mrs. Charles Fowlkes who had surgery at St. Anthony Hospital last Monday. Hope you have a speedy recovery, Joan, and are up and around again soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Widick and sons moved last week end to 1402 9th Ave. in Canyon. Arden Road neighbors hate to lose good folks like these.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Crisp, two daughters and two French poodles have moved out on Goodnight Trail from Amarillo, Welcome!

The Malones have spent lots of hours at hospitals lately. Janie is back in school after a bout with asthma and spent a few days in St. Anthony Hospital. Jimmy was rushed to Neblett Hospital in Canyon for an emergency appendectomy. He's doing fine and is back in school.

Alamo Road folks welcome Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ewing and their three daughters from Amarillo. They have about gotten their Shetland ponies settled in their new home.too.

Mrs. Roy Cates and Den 6 Cub Scouts are proud to welcome Mrs. Don Masterson as Assistant Den Mother. She is worth a million dollars to the den since she has had experience with channeling cubs energy previously.

Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Gass of Oklahoma City visited in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Grogan on Jennings Drive on their return from Hawaii.

Understand that this area will have it's first freeze Saturday night Nov. 3rd. This article will be on it's way to the newspaper office Saturday but we're anxious to find out just how correct our informer is.

Mrs. Charles Fowlkes enjoyed visiting with her brother and his family that were here last week-end from El Paso, Texas.

John Hayden Family are new neighbors on Mack Avenue. Welcome to our neighborhood!

The Sharpley Circle from the First Baptist Church in Canyon met recently in the home of Mrs. James Malone on Chapman Road. The name Sharpley voted on and given to the circle at the meeting is after Ben Sharpley a missionary to Brazil.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Karnes and grandchildren, Terry and Phil from Clarendon visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Evert Johnson and family.

Recent visitors to the Charles Fowlkes home were Mr. and Mrs. Merl Kirby from Oakland, California. They are Joan's cousins she had not seen in many years.

Vickie Starkey and Linda Earle were overnight visitors of Rhonda Johnson last Friday night. As most such occasions go, there was chatter off and on all night.

The Robert Denttens are visiting their daughter and family, the Art Crandalls in Austin.

The North Randall County Girl Scouts, Intermediate Troop No. 3, have completed their cooking school in connection with their 2nd class rank. A tea honoring their completion of this course was held last Wednesday Oct. 31.
